Greetings fellow clansfolk, I am writing this in a more cheery frame of mind than I have been for some time. The sun is shining, the daffodils are blooming in the garden, the snow and ice have gone and I am hopeful that I will again feel some heat in my bones. It has been a wild winter, hasn't it? At least it has been in this part of Ontario. But now we can look forward to the summer's series of Highland Games. The Main Event of course, this year, is the visit of our Clan Chief, Pauline to the Fergus Highland Games. We are really hopeful that we have an excellent turn out. Pauline has intimated to me that she is most anxious to meet as many of the clanfolk as she can. You will find a wealth of information within this newsletter so please read it all and consider joining us for a really great time. The information on the Fergus Games was taken directly from their web site which you can access directly for lots more information at ....

<http://www.fergusscottishfestival.com/>

If you can't attend our AGM in Fergus but you have something you would like us to discuss please feel free to get in touch with me and we will try and put it on the agenda.

In other parts of the summer you will find us at , The Chatham Highland Games - 12th July, Maxville Highland Games - 1st August, Montreal Highland Games - 3rd August and if you have a favourite Games within driving range of London we will try and visit you there. Having said that, I must confess that we had hoped to get out to the East Coast and visit a couple of the Games there this summer. Unfortunately that is not going to be possible and has had to be put on the back burner for now. My appologies to those folks on the East Coast we had been so looking forward to meeting up with. I hope you all enjoy the newsletter and please don't forget to drop me a line about "what ails you"

The Duties of the Hunters as Royal Forresters

By COLIN FORRESTER, Hon. Sec., The Clan
Forrester Society (first printed in 1985)

*The Arms of the Lords Forrester of Corstorphine,
The Chief of Forresters*

John Hunter of Hunterston was appointed as Forrester of the Royal Forest and Deer Park on the islands of Arran and the Little Cumbrae, an office that was hereditary in the family. The annual quitrent to the King for the Office was a pair of hounds and a hawk. In feudal times forests were not for growing wood, but were the game preserves and hunting grounds for the King and his nobles.

Tolls were levied on animals grazing in the forest called 'Pannage', 'Herbage' and 'Foddage'. Care had to be taken of the 'Vert' or growing cover for game. The forests were often open land, and the smaller islands were used for holding breeding stocks of deer. They were easily contained within the area without needing walled dykes to hold the animals.

The forester's duties included protection of this game. If a stranger was found in the forest and swore he was lost, he was led out to the common way. The hunter had the right to deliver a known trespasser to the King, and he was permitted to remove the man's 'outmost cloth' (cloak or outer garment) and the contents of his purse. The fine for trespass was eight cows, and ten pounds for unlawful hunting or cutting 'Verdure'. The forests were ruled by ancient forest law, with judiciaries and forest courts. Thus a man whose 'ratch' or scenting hound chased a beast into the forest had to remove his bow and arrows, or tie his arrows with his bowstring, before entering the forest ground. Stray animals were seized, and penalties for the owner were severe: if herds of goats attacked the verdure the first three times a goat was hung from a tree by its horns as warning. The fourth time one was disemboweled on the spot. If the forester was alone when he found the strays, he blew his horn three times in witness, and then took the animals away for himself.

The horn or bugle was an important tool of the forester, as well as his badge of office in Scotland. This is shown in our own arms as well as those of the Hunters.

In Memorium

I received the following note from Sharon Tymich:

My parents, David and Ruth Hunter were mentioned in your January/03 issue of the newsletter. My Father passed away in November, 2002. He was born in Glasgow in 1914 and came to Canada in 1918. He always loved his birthplace and made two trips back to Scotland. He instilled in all his children a love for Scotland and I and my two sisters have also visited Scotland. He and my Mother enjoyed your newsletter so much and felt it kept them in touch with Scotland.

Sharon Tymich

Unfortunately news travels slowly in the newsletter world but we wish Ruth and the family our deepest condolences

Nice To Know

Thank you to all of you who have taken the trouble to let me know how much you are enjoying the newsletter. It is still as hard as ever to get suitable and interesting articles but somehow or other it always seems to work out.

If you are one of the folks who enjoy the newsletter in paper form, think of how much it would be in full colour, and one way you can achieve that is to have your newsletter sent by e-mail. We now have around 30% of our membership receiving their newsletter in this format. If you want to be the latest convert just e-mail me at thunter01@rogers.com giving me your full name and address and we will set you up. If you find you don't like it we can change you back to regular mail at any time. We aim to please. Try it out, I know you'll like it.

Arbroath Pagent

I found the press release on the Arbroath Pagent very interesting and so I have included it in this newsletter. However it is here for your interest and should not be viewed as an endorsement from the association. Please regard it as any other news bulletin and act accordingly.

BUY A SHARE IN SCOTLAND'S HISTORY

An Arbroath society is offering patriot and expatriate Scots at home and abroad the chance to buy a small share in a major event in their country's history-and get a "share certificate" as a declaration of their support!

The idea is part of an ambitious new scheme by the Arbroath Abbey Pageant Society to raise some £40,000 to re-enact the signing of the Declaration of Scottish Independence-an event which took place on April 6th 1320 and which the society reenact in the spectacularly floodlit red sandstone ruins of the 12th century abbey where King Robert the Bruce's court originally gathered. The society has been re-enacting the signing, a pivotal event in the history of the Scottish nation, since it was first founded in 1947, and plans to stage its next full reenactment in 2005.

"It's not just coincidence that Americans have chosen April 6th as the date for their National Tartan Day to recognise Scotland and Scots' contribution to the development of their nation, and we are keen to ensure that the world knows Arbroath's vital part in our history", said Harry Ritchie of the Pageant Society.

"Unfortunately, a production on the scale and quality that the Pageant adheres to does not come cheap so we're giving Scots anywhere-and anyone else who cares to support us-the chance to buy a tastefully produced "declaration of support" in our 2005 event, their own "share certificate", if you like.

These will be personalised and issued to anyone making a donation of £25 sterling ($45 US , $65 Canadian, $70 Australian, 40 Euros) or more."

The Scottish Declaration—or Arbroath Letter as it's sometimes known-was sent by the court of King Robert the Bruce to the Pope in Avignon asking him to recognise the Scots as a nation in their own right. The document, written by Abbot Bernard de Linton, is recognised as one of the finest political documents of all time and was the inspiration for some of the wording of the American Declaration of Independence.

The full Pageant involves a large cast of Arbroath townsfolk from all walks of life in carefully researched and beautifully recreated costume and this year, a "proclamation "event to commemorate April 6th was filmed at Arbroath Abbey to be shown on American network television to kick off the build up to the "real thing" in the summer of 2005.

For more information, visit the Pageant Society's website at www.arbroathabbeypageant.com

Donations payable to Arbroath Abbey Pageant Society, to Mr.D.Langlands, Honorary Secretary & Treasurer, W.A. Findlay & Co.,33 Commerce

Street, Arbroath, Angus, DD 11 1 NA.

For further information contact Harry Ritchie, Press

Officer, Beechwood, Barry, Camoustie, Angus, DD7 7RP.
